

A Letter from Fayette County Public Schools Superintendent, Emmanuel Caulk

From the moment I set foot in Lexington, I have been impressed with this community's support for our local public schools.

People in Fayette County recognize that providing a world class education for all of our students is the best way to ensure a brighter tomorrow. Everywhere I go, I meet people who want to help, but either don't know how to get started or want to be sure that their efforts will make an impact. Give 10 is the answer.

Each of our schools has identified specific ways that members of the community can support students. Through Give 10, Fayette County Public Schools has developed a way to match the people who want to volunteer with those requests for help.

Now it's up to you. Will you consider giving up to 10 hours a month to make a difference in the life of a child?

I'm asking because our students need you. They need your time. They need your talent. And they need to know that you believe they can succeed.

Your Partner,

Manny Caulk
